

Three kinds of source, three kinds of work, one destination

Every path ends in the same shape. What differs is how much work it takes to get there.